Reading and Jersey Central Pounded Down
Several Points.

Heavy Trading in Union Pacific—Closing Stronger.

Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The stock market opened with a determined driveat the coalers by the bears, and on reports from Philadelphia that the banks had called in the Reading stock of Jersey Central Reading was gradually forced to $11,32 decline from the opening. When the report was officially denied the stock reacted to 43, a loss on the day of 2 per cent. Jersey Central was sold down to 77.50 points less, reacting to 79. Erie continued strong. Western Union was weak in the morning and stronger at closing with large trading. There were no other special features.

Aside from the Philadelphia story referred to, there was no outside news bearing on the market. The market closed with better feeling notwithstanding the decline.

Gould is reported to have bought yesterday, but general opinion is that the trading was mainly to cover short accounts.

The financial scheme of Wabash has not yet been fully worked out and some curiosity is existing to see if various surmises are correct, but the matter is in Gould's hands, and he won't talk about it.

Up to this morning, including the shipments yesterday, total gold shipments from Feb. 21, date of first shipment, are $27,755,000.

Gould and Vanderbilt brokers are borrowing time money. On April 1st, 12,500 shares Union Pacific stood in ex-Gov. Samuel J. Tilden's name. None of this stock, so far as is known, has been transferred. The whole of the Tilden interest is comprised in this. Vanderbilt has no Union Pacific in his name. He holds 5,000 shares, but this has been greatly reduced.

Kieran's special from Philadelphia, referring to rumors that Reading cannot take care of her Jersey Central stock, says: "We can state officially that every share held, either by the company or friends, will be protected at every hazard or price."
